ROGERS FAMILY DATA
in the
New England Historical Genealogical Register

Stone Bridge now is, and, afterwards, in 1638, "planting lands" near "Heart-break Hill." He probably came from Essex, England, having had relatives at Colchester, in that County, at the time of his decease in 1666. He married a daughter of William Warner, sister of Daniel and John Warner, all of them people of consideration among the first settlers. He left three sons, Nathaniel, the eldest, John, and Thomas; and five daughters, Sarah Massie, of Salem, Abigail Treadwell, of Ipswich, Elizabeth, Hannah, and Lydia. The last named became Lydia Rogers before the decease of her mother in 1671. Nathaniel, the eldest son, with his wife Lydia, continued to reside in Ipswich until after the decease of his mother, who bequeathes to him the "flax now growing." He was probably father of Nathaniel, who was born, 1669, and died at Ipswich, Oct. 13, 1717, who was father of Capt. Nathaniel, who was born, April 24, 1699, and died, May 27, 1790. The Rev. Jonathan French, of North Hampton, in an article in the Gen. Register, vol. 1, p. 43, states that the Rev. Nathaniel Wells, minister of Deerfield, New Hampshire, was "son of Dea. Nathaniel Wells, whose father was also Dea. Nathaniel Wells, who removed to Wells, Me., from Ipswich, Mass., and who was a son of Dea. Thomas Wells of Ipswich." I suspect that there is an error here, and that the first Dea. Nathaniel Wells, of Wells, was son of John, second son of Thomas, of Ipswich, who married Sarah, daughter of Francis Littlefield, and settled in Wells, which received its name from this family, having, previously, been called Preston. His father transferred to him, by a deed of gift, all his lands in that place, being about three hundred and fifty acres. To Thomas, the youngest son, the father, by his Will, dated, July 3, 1666, bequeathes two hundred and fifty pounds sterling, to be paid to him "when he come to the age of 22 years, 4 months, and 10 days." By the same instrument, it appears that he was born "11th, 11th mo., 1646," or January 11, 1647, of the present style. Why this precise period was fixed on for the payment of the legacy, does not appear. Is it possible that the good deacon could have dabbled in Astrology? He also provides for the contingency of his son's "going to College," and bequeathes to him "all the books I bought for his use, and my phisic books, and the books called orthodox evangelist." Two books which would probably come under the latter description, "The Soul's preparation for Christ," and "Parkins upon the Creed," he had given to his daughters. From this bequest of "phisic books," the inference is drawn that he was a physician. The evidence is not quite conclusive, yet I know of no other. The books were appraised at £8. 6s. 3d., a respectable medical library for those days. This was probably the Thomas Wells who, according to Farmer, was the first minister of Amesbury, ordained, in 1672, and died, July 10, 1734, aged eighty-six. If so, he was eighty-seven years and six months old at the time of his decease.

John Rogers, son of the Rev. Nathaniel, great-grandson [?] of John, the celebrated martyr of Smithfield, was born in England, about 1630, and came to New England with his father, in 1636. He was graduated at Harvard College, in 1649, and studied both physic and divinity. He commenced preaching as colleague, or assistant to Mr. Hubbard, July 4, 1656. He continued to preach occasionally, and to practice in his other profession, until 1683, when, on the decease of Urian Oakes, President of Harvard College, he was chosen to succeed him, and was installed, August 12, 1683. He died, July 20, 1684, the day succeeding the first commencement after his installation. He married Elizabeth, daughter of General Daniel Denison, who, after the decease of her husband, returned to Ipswich, where she died, July 13, 1723, in the eighty-second year of her age. They did not join the church until January 11, 1633, when they "came into full communion." Their children were Elizabeth, Margaret, John, Daniel, Nathaniel, and Patience.

A nuncupative Will of Nathaniel Rogers, father of the above, was proved September 26, 1655, by the oaths of Mr. Ezekiel Cheever, and Deacon John Whipple. It is in the handwriting of Mr. Cheever,— who was, first, master of the Grammar School in this town, and, afterwards, the distinguished master of the Latin School in Boston,— and is a very neat specimen of the chirography of the age. The caption runs thus:—

"The last will and testament of Mr. Nathaniel Rogers, Pastor of the Church of Christ, at Ipswich, as was taken from his own mouth, July 3, Anno Dom.

A clause in this will has been misunderstood as implying a charge of inefficiency, and want of industry in our learned and worthy physician. It is in these words; "To my son John, to prevent expectation of a double portion, I have not so bequeathed; he hath never been by any labor serviceable to his brethren, but hath been upheld by their labor and pain, while he hath been determining his way, therefore, I give and bequeath to him an equal portion with his other brethren, viz.; y^e^ sume of one hundred pound of my estate in Old England, and one hundred pound of my estate in New England." He makes like bequests to his sons Nathaniel, Samuel, and Timothy. To his son Ezekiel, "twenty pound, which he shall have liberty to take in my books if he please." Assuredly, Mr. Rogers does not intend any censure on his eldest son, or disapprobation of his conduct, but merely to do justice to his younger sons, who, by their labor and "paine," had helped to acquire the property, and to contribute to their elder brother's support while obtaining his education. For a like reason, undoubtedly, he gives to his son Ezekiel, only twenty pounds, because his estate had already been at the charge of giving to him a liberal education.

Philemon Dean and his brother John, sons of Doct. John Dean or Dane, seem to have effected a separation of the two names; Philemon and his descendants using the former orthography, while John and his, adopt the latter. Philemon was born about 1646; joined the church "in full communion," February 8, 1673-4; and was admitted a freeman, in March of the same year. He married Mary Thompson, October 7, 1685; after whose decease, he married Ruth Convers, December 25, 1690. By the last wife he had Philemon and Edward, twins, born July 17, 1695; and a daughter, Ruth, born August 24, 1698. Philemon removed to Newbury. He married, August 20, 1742, Hannah York, of Ipswich. Edward, the twin brother, died before his father, and left a widow. The inscription on the gravestone of Doctor Dean is as follows.

in reviving the grammar school, which had fallen into neglect during the dark age which preceded his time. Elderly people yet living remember his contemporaries, and hand down the tradition that he maintained a degree of state and splendor in his domestic establishment, unequalled since his time. He kept his chariot, with servants in livery, and made other displays of wealth and rank, which indicate him as the last of the aristocracy. He died August 12, 1756, aged 61 years. The inscription on his gravestone closes with the appropriate motto,

"sic transit gloria mundi."

John, the second son, married Sarah, daughter of Francis Littlefield, senr., and settled in Wells, in the County of York, Maine,— which received its name from this family, having previously been called Preston — where his father had given him, by a deed of gift, about 350 acres of land.

Francis Holmes was probably the son of James and Mary Holmes, who were inhabitants of Ipswich in 1694. He died May 12, 1758, in the 53d year of his age. He owned, and resided in the ancient house, yet standing, at the corner of Maine street and Summer street. He married Mary Gibson, with whom he was published March 29, 1732, and who survived him. The children he left were John, who remained in Ipswich; Francis, who removed to Newbury, where he dwelt in 1760; Mary, wife of John Pittman; Josiah and Margaret Holmes. His widow made her signature with a mark. The estate was appraised at £150. 9s. 4d., of which the house and garden constituted £80, and "part of a barn wth Nath^{l} Smith on y^{e} meet^{g} house hill," £4.

Samuel Rogers, son of the Rev. John, and grandson of the Rev. Doc^{r}. John, President of Harvard College, was born August 31, 1709. He was graduated at Harvard College in 1725; married Hannah Wise, January 1, 1735, and died December 21, 1772. With an extensive practice in his profession, he found time to exercise the offices of Town Clerk, Register of Probate, Justice of the Peace, Representative of the General Court, and Colonel of a regiment.

John Calef was born in 1725. He was of a remarkably short lived family, yet himself attained the age of eighty-seven years. His father, Robert,* died July 12, 1730, in the thirty-seventh year of his age. His mother, Margarett, youngest daughter of Deacon John Staniford, died October 7, 1727, in the thirty-second year of her age. Samuel, his father's brother, died September 1, 1720, aged twenty-four years. Joseph, his grandfather, died December 28, 1707, in his thirty-sixth year. He may have inherited his longevity from his maternal grandparents, Deacon Staniford, who died May 27, 1750, aged eighty-two years, and Margaret, his wife, daughter of Thomas and Martha Harris, who died May 18, 1750, aged ninety-three. The name is frequently written on our records "Calf," which probably represented the popular pronunciation. On a subscription, by the grandchildren, "Mr. Joseph," toward purchasing a bell in 1699, the name is spelt "Califfe." The doctor had great respectability, and considerable political influence. He was for many years representative of the town at the General Court, but falling into the unsuccessful party, in revolutionary times, was obliged to leave his country. He settled at St. Andrews, in the British Province of New Brunswick, where he died in 1812.

THE ROGERS FAMILY OF NEWPORT, R. I., AND MIDDLETOWN, CONN.

[Communicated by Enos Johnson, Jr. Esq., of Chicago, Ill.]

The following genealogical data, being the Bible record of the family of John Rogers of Middletown, Conn., and of his father, Joseph Rogers, of Newport, Rhode Island, and afterwards of Middletown, have been faithfully copied from the same Bible.

I think it not a little singular that Farmer and Savage are both silent regarding this Newport family of Rogers, as I find in the "Rhode Island Colonial Records" that James Rogers was admitted freeman at Newport, Sept. 7, 1640; was elected sergeant of the General Assembly 15 March, 1643, and continued such until 1664; and was also the solicitor-general in 1657. In 1676 his widow, Mary Rogers (then Mary Peabody), petitions to settle his accounts. And from the same records I find that Thomas and John Rogers were admitted freemen at Newport in 1668.

I wish to ascertain, if possible, who was the ancestor of this Joseph Rogers of Newport. It will be observed that the Bible record gives the time of his death (Oct. 1711), place of burial (Newport), and the Christian name (Elizabeth) of his wife, who died at Tiverton, R. I.

"John Rogers, was married to Patience [torn] [the family say—Miller] November 22, 1757, by the Reverend Mr. William Russell. John was Born Sept. 18, 1758, on Monday, 9 P.M. Abigail was Born on Tuesday at 9 A.M., 15 April, 1760. Sarah was Born January 28, 1762, on Thursday. Joseph was Born May 5, 1764. Timothy was Born March 3^{d} at 10, A.M., 1766, on Monday. Constant and Patience was Born the 22^{d} April, 1768, on a Friday, both at a Birth. William was Born July 26, 1770, on Thursday at 10 in the Morning. A Son Born 25 July 1772 and Died y^{e} 28 July y^{e} 3^{d} day after born. Hannah was Born May 4, 1774, on Wednesday at 4 o'clock, P.M. Fanny was Born March 21, 1778, on Thursday at 11 o'clock at night.

Joseph Died Dec. 25, 1783, at Ocoyes in High Spinola. Hannah Died Nov. 22^{d} 1793, aged 19½ years on Friday at about 6 o'clock. Much Lamented by all that were acquainted with her.

March 27, 1805. This day received the melancholy announcement of the Death of my son John. He fell overboard and was drowned on the Coast of Carolina, on the first day of this Month at 8 o'clock in the Morning. O! sad news to relate. May God be pleased to sanctify this bereaving stroke of his providence to all our family, and while we call to remembrance his good and amiable disposition, and the many kind offices received from him, and how much disappointed we are in our future hopes and expectations, and now he is no more, may his memory be precious to us as long as life lasts.

August 25, 1807. My beloved Wife Died at 6 o'clock, afternoon.

September 15, 1808. John Rogers was married to Elizabeth Whitmore by the Rev^{d} Enoch Huntington on a Wednesday and she Died the 15th February following aged 67 years much lamented.

What followeth was written in my Honored Fathers Bible, viz.:

Joseph Rogers was Married to Dorothy Wood 16 March 1726. Mary was Born Oct^{r}. 4, 1730; wrong, it was 25th Jan^{y}, 1728. Joseph was Born Oct^{r}. 4, 1730. Elizabeth was Born January 4, 1733, and Died Aug. 29, 1735. John was born June 16, 1736. Constant was Born October 15, 1738. Abigail was Born Aug. 20, 1740, and Died Sept. 20, 1741. Elizabeth was Born May 4, 1743, in Middletown, Conn.

All above written were born at Newport in Rhode Island. I wrote this on New Years day at night, 1743–4. I then being in the fortieth year of my age till the 15th of May next. By account my Wife now 37 years of age Dec^{r} 11th last past.

Abigail was Born April 10, 1745, at half after 6, A.M. Samuel was Born Feb. 19, 1748, on Friday at 4 o'clock afternoon. Jonathan was Born May 9, 1752.

Our Honored Father Joseph, Died Sep. 16, 1751, A. 47. Abigail Died Sept^{r}. 30, 1753, Æ. 9 years. Joseph was lost at Sea with Capt. Edward Johnson on his passage from Surrinam, which place he left 10 Feby, 1756. Constant was unfortunately drowned on Saybrook Bar being bound on a Voyage to the West Indies aged 19 years. It was on the 23^{d} Dec^{r}. 1757.

Our Honored Mother Dorothy Died July 29, 1777, Aged 72 years.

May, 1750. This I found written on my Mother's Grave. "Elizabeth Rogers aged about 27 years, Died May 25 [torn] in Tiverton." My Honored Father lies interred at Newport. Died Octr. 1711, whose Memory for a long time will be precious."

SEIZURE OF ARMS AND POWDER AT FORT WILLIAM AND MARY. THE FINALE OF THE PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT IN NEW-HAMPSHIRE.

[Communicated by Hon. John Wentworth, LL.D., of Chicago, Ill.]

The letter of Hon. Woodbury Langdon, published in the July number of the Register for 1868, makes of interest the following extracts from the unpublished letters of Gov. John Wentworth, descriptive of the events of 1774 and 1775. It will be seen that Gov. Wentworth attributes all his troubles in New-Hampshire to the interference of the Boston leaders. These extracts present to the American public, for the first time, "the other side of the question."

DESCENDANTS OF THE REV. DANIEL ROGERS OF LITTLETON, MASS.

By John Ward Dean, A.M., of Boston.

WE have been able to add to and correct the record of the family of the Rev. Daniel Rogers, printed in the Register, xii. 339, as follows:

THOMAS PIERCE, OF DORCHESTER, AND WIFE MARY.

Communicated by WILLIAM B. TRASK, Esq., of Boston.

IN the "Book of the Lockes," p. 317, it is stated that Thomas Pierce married Mary, daughter of George Proctor; that she was born in 1642, and died March 22, 1704, aged 62. This statement in regard to Thomas Pierce and Mary Proctor has been republished in various works printed since the year 1853, the date of publication of the valuable book of the late Mr. Locke, above mentioned.

As Thomas and Mary Pierce were ancestors of mine, in the maternal line, I have naturally felt desirous of learning the whole truth, if possible, in regard to them. Careful research has accordingly been made among the early records, but I find no evidence, from any source, that Thomas Pierce married Mary Proctor, while there is sufficient proof, as will be shown, I think, that he wedded Mary Fry, of Weymouth. Her birth is given (REG. viii. 348) as having occurred, 9 (11) 1641. Her elder sister, Elizabeth, who was united to Nathan Fiske, son of Nathan, of Watertown (see Bond's Watertown, p. 214, surname of said Elizabeth unknown to Dr. Bond), was born in Weymouth, 20 (10) 1639. In the nuncupative will of William Fry, of Weymouth (who died Oct. 26, 1642, REG. ii. 385), he gives his house and four acres of land, being his home lot, to his wife. After her decease, the same, with other lands, was to go to his two daughters, Elizabeth and Mary.

On the 15th of May, 1672, conveyance was made to Samuel White, of Weymouth (Suffolk Deeds, Lib. xx. 456), of lands in that town, from Thomas Pearce, of Dorchester, and Mary his wife, and Nathan Fiske, of Watertown, and Elizabeth his wife. The lands thus conveyed, the instrument informs us, were "recorded on Weymouth Towne book to William Fry, deceased, the reputed father of the above s[d] Mary and Elizabeth." This deed to White is signed by the parties, Thomas Pearce, Mary Pearce, Nath. Fisk and Elizabeth Fisk, and was received and recorded at the Probate Office in Boston, Dec. 2, 1701.

Among the early entries of marriages, called the Suffolk County returns to be seen at the Registrar's office in Boston, is the following: "Tho. Pearse to Mary" (surname not given), "by Mr Bellingham, 3. 8. 1661." I feel confident that this is the record of the marriage of Mr. Pierce to Mary Fry.

In the Dorchester Cemetery stands a grave-stone with the inscription (see REG. iv. 277) "Mary Pierce | Wife to | Thomas Pierce | Aged 62 years | Died March y[e] 22[d] | 1704." Is it not reasonable to suppose that this was Mary (Fry) Pierce and not Mary (Proctor) Pierce, as Mr. Locke has it, the gravestone inscription corresponding with the date of birth of Mary Fry as given in the returns from Weymouth, before mentioned?

Elizabeth and Mary Fry joined Dorchester Church in 1659, as we learn from the Church Records, volume one: "John Blackman & Sarah his wife & Elizabeth & Mary Fry being dismissed from y[e] Church of Waymoth viz: the two latter p'sons, they wer all admitted y[e] 10 (5) 59." Two years before the marriage of Thomas Pierce to "Mary," as recorded, Elizabeth and Mary Fry joined Dorchester church. Mary was at that time in the seventeenth year of her age.

Ten months and eighteen days after the marriage of Thomas and Mary Pierce, or "Pearse," a son Thomas was born to them. He eventually married Sarah, surname not learned. The will of Thomas, the second, made Oct 16, 1730, was proved on the following ninth of November. He died Oct. 21, 1730, aged 68. Mentions his wife, to whom he gives the improvement of the West end of his dwelling house in Dorchester, a cow, fire wood and 30 pounds in money, or Bills of Credit on the Province. To "my eldest son Napthali" he gives a double share of his estate, and to "my other son Zebulon Peirce and my Daughter Judeth Peirce an Equal Share or Portion of my Estate after it is lawfully apprized or valued." These items are appropriate in this connection, as Mr. Locke remarks that the second Thomas Pierce "probably left no child," whereas there is, I think, a line of descent, from Napthali down to the present time.

George Proctor had a grant of three acres and a half of land in 1634. (Dorchester Town Records, p. 13.) I find no record of the birth, baptism, marriage or death of either Sarah or Mary Proctor, children of George Proctor. The History of Dorchester, page 73, says they "probably came with their parents." They were both living in 1661, for in the will of their father, dated January 27th of that year, he says: "I giue vnto my four Daughters viz[t] Sarah, Mary, Hannah & Abigail, 20[s] a peece." If Mary had been the wife of Thomas Pierce he would naturally have designated her as my daughter Mary Pierce, for the marriage of "Tho[s] Pearse to Mary" took place Oct. 3, 1661, nearly four months prior to the date of George Proctor's will.

HOPE ROGERS.

By [illegible], Esq., of [illegible], Mass.

The following imperfect record of Hope Rogers and his descendants is offered with the hope of eliciting something concerning his parentage, brothers and sisters, etc.

The first record thus far discovered is in Windham County, Connecticut, that Hope Rogers of Mansfield bought lands of John Waldo, in Windham, June 5, 1715. 100 A. for 115 pounds sterling. He married Nov. 14, 1715, Esther Meacham. The record of his children is also found in the Windham County records.

One correspondent writes that Hope had four wives and thirteen children, but fails to name any wife except Esther Mecham, or any children except the ten given in Windham records.

According to one tradition, he was the only son of Joseph Rogers, who married Sarah Cuvier (or Currier). Shortly after his marriage he joined an expedition to Port Royal, where he was probably killed by the Indians, or French, as he was never heard from afterwards. Hope was so named in hopes of his father's return. The same tradition states that Joseph was one of four brothers who came from England and settled in Salem, Mass.

This last clause does not strengthen one's faith in the first.

The children of Hope and Esther (Meacham) were:

i. Joseph,[2] b. Aug. 5, 1715; d. infant.
ii. Ishmael, b. July 7, 1717.
iii. Ichabod, b. Jan. 19, 1719; m. Nov. 10, 1743, Priscilla Holt, dau. of Elias and Mary (Bixbee) Holt. She b. Andover, Mass., Sept. 14, 1725.

4. vi. Jeduthan, b. Feb. 16, 1724.
vii. Sarah, b. Feb. 21, 1726; m. Oct. 11, 1744, Robert Greene.
viii. Mary, b. Oct. 6, 1727.
ix. Joel, b. Oct. 14, 1729.
x. Ruth, b. Aug. 23, 1732.

2. Josiah[2] Rogers (Hope[1]), born Oct. 7 (or 18) 1720; died Dec. 4, 1815; married, March 1, 1743, Hannah Ford. She born Sept. 19, 1726, and died July 10, 1778, in the wilderness between Sunbury and Reading, Penn., while fleeing from the Indians at the Wyoming massacre. He was tithing man of Windham in 1760. He subsequently moved to Pennsylvania. After the Wyoming massacre, he returned to Wyoming and died there in 1815.

The children of Josiah and Hannah (Ford) were:

5. i. Jonah,[3] b. Dec. 15, 1743.
ii. Josiah, b. Aug. 15, 1747; d. infant.
iii. Hannah, b. July 15, 1748.

The children of Jethro and Hannah (Holt) were:

i. Oliver,[3] b. April 14, 1748, Hampton, Ct.
ii. Bixbee, b. Dec. 18, 1749; d. infant.

4. Jeduthan[2] Rogers (Hope[1]), born Feb. 16, 1724; died Nov. 19, 1800; married first, Oct. 21, 1747, Anna Farnam (or Farnham). She died, Dec. 30, 1762; married second, Oct. 12, 1763, Hannah Knight; married third, Oct. 4, 1772, Eunice (Putnam) Burgess, widow. He was selectman of Hampton, Conn., 1785.

Children of Jeduthan and Anna (Farnam) were:

i. Jeduthan,[3] b. March 24, 1748; d. June 24, 1750.
ii. Ann, b. Dec. 10, 1749; m. Jan. 21, 1770, Ambrose Ames of Mansfield.

OSGOOD CARLETON.

By the Rev. Anson Titus, Somerville, Mass.

Osgood Carleton, for a quarter of a century before 1810, was the leading teacher of mathematics and navigation in Boston. He had pupils from many portions of New England. His was the school of the day for instruction in navigation and in the art of map construction. As a teacher and cartographer he easily held a foremost rank. He was born in Nottingham, N. H., June 17, 1741; eldest son of Jeremiah Carleton and wife Eunice Taylor, and a grandson of Joseph Carleton of Newbury and wife Abigail, daughter of Christopher Osgood. Jeremiah Carleton, the father of Osgood, removed in his manhood years to Lyndeborough, N. H. In the Carleton family were seven children:

i. Osgood, b. June 17, 1741.
ii. Jeremiah, b. ——, 1743; m. Lois Hoyt; had eleven children, and settled upon the homestead in Lyndeborough. He was a lieutenant at Bunker Hill.
iii. Mary, m. Reuben Batchelder.
iv. Abigail, m. (1st) John Johnson and m. (2d) David Putnam.
v. Timothy, killed at the raising of a meeting-house.
vi. David, slain at the battle of Bunker Hill.
vii. Ebenezer, was at Bunker Hill. He died at Hill, N. H., Dec. 8, 1836; m. and had five children.

Osgood Carleton enlisted, May 2, 1758, in the company of Captain Aaron Fay, Col. Ebenezer Nichols, and served seven months for the "Reduction of Canada." Residence given as Litchfield. [Mass. Archives, xcvi: 419.] April 6, 1759, aged eighteen years, and especially named as the son of Jeremiah Carleton, residing in Woburn, he was attached to the regiment of Colonel Ebenezer Tyng, under command of General Jeffry Amherst for invasion of Canada. The Regimental Return was dated at Dunstable [Mass. Arch., xcvi: 378]. January 1st, 1760, he enlists as a private in the company of Captain Joseph Newhall, Colonel Jacob Bayley, then stationed at Louisburg. He was discharged December 20, 1760. [Mass. Archives, xcviii, 489.] These separate enlistments, however, only show that he was in the pay of the province. This service brought him into the home and service of Major-General John Henry Bastide,* director and engineer of the king's ordnance at Louisburg and Annapolis. It was while rendering service in the army of Nova Scotia his talent for mathematics and his skill at original work were recognized, and he was made a part of the working force among the navigators and artillerists of the King's army and navy. It is said that for five years young Carleton was under his tutelage in the provinces and on the high seas. General Bastide as chief engineer of ordnance found in Carleton a young man of large ability and capable of hard work in engineering, pilotage and navigation. Carleton's residence, with General Bastide, introduced him to affairs in Louisburg, Annapolis, Liverpool and various colonies of the kingdom in North America. But with all of Carleton's associations with officers of the royal army he kept close to the hearts of his countrymen, and on the outbreak of the war for independence he was ready to render service.

Previous to the war of the Revolution Osgood Carleton was a surveyor for a time of the New Hampshire Province and surveyed land in present Vermont, of which at that time the jurisdiction was a source of heated debate.

He was in his later years called upon to render valuable testimony† concerning lands in Lyndeborough, N. H., which he assisted in surveying.

Osgood Carleton was a patriot at the outbreak of the war for Independence. He was present at Bunker Hill, where his brother David was slain. During the first year of the war he was a sergeant in the company of Capt. John Wood, Col. Paul Dudley Sargent, and in 1776 was the quarter-master of 16th Continental Infantry. Afterwards, he served as a lieutenant. His physique, however, was such that he could not endure the hardships of campaigns, and he was assigned to the Corps of Invalids. During the later part of the war he was much occupied in bearing despatches between Boston and Philadelphia, and in carrying money from the treasury of the Bay Province to the treasury of the Continental Congress, or to paymasters in the field.

*In Murdock's History of Nova Scotia, ii: 55, writing of Louisburg in 1745, the author says of the New England militiamen: "As might be expected from militia, a want of order and discipline was very apparent in the New England troops. * * * * * They knew nothing of regular approaches, but took advantage of the night; and when they found Mr. Bastide's proposals for zigzags and epaulements, they made merry with these terms of art and went on in their inartificial mode."

In July, 1762, Major-General J. H. Bastide was at Halifax and made a report in council of war concerning the erection of batteries by the "200 men of Provincial Regiment." [Nova Scotia Archives, pp. 702-706.] He was at Annapolis as late as 1765, when he was styled "Director and Lt. Colonel of Ordnance." [McDonough's Nova Scotia, ii: p. 498.] He was also styled Colonel, January 4, 1758, and Major-General, February 20, 1761; and in May, 1767, "Director and Lieut. Colonel of Engineers." General Bastide was no unimportant and insignificant man in the engineering [illegible] served in the years before the American Revolution. [illegible] but it has not come to our knowledge.
